Shooting the Moon Frances Dowell

shooting the moon This is a sparse, beautifully written story about learning to truly see people, situations, and emotions as they are, not as we want to see them. Booklist Shooting the Moon by Frances O'Roark Dowell Shooting the Moon by Frances O'Roark Dowell was a good, quick read. I had, fortunately, brought this book home with me when school was cancelled because of a wind chill warning threatening -45 degree temperatures. I was easily able to read the whole book in a day.

A Year of Reading: SHOOTING THE MOON by Frances O'Roark Dowell

SHOOTING THE MOON is definitely my favorite for this author. It is a powerful story and, as always, Dowell builds characters that we know and love. I read completely for character--plot is secondary. And I loved the characters in the book. The thing that I am always amazed with in her writing is how well we get to know, even the minor characters. I love that about her writing.

Shooting the Moon book by Frances O'Roark Dowell

SHOOTING THE MOON is a deeply moving, gorgeously written novel about one military family's gradual disillusionment with the Vietnam War. It's the most realistic, searching kids' book I've read about that neglected period in American history.
